Installed An Air Conditioner

An air conditioner was gifted to help “the movement” by a couple we met (Joshua Vanetten & Amanda Hoffman-Ferguson) at the Pow Wow who were appreciative of Wild Willpower's contributions.

BEFORE

With air conditioner.

Cleaned The Blue Paint Off The East Window

The couple possesses no photos of the window in its finished state after scraping & cleaning it.

Mr. Byrd scraping the window.

4-8-2016: About to scrape the paint off, then clean it with turpentine.

Fixed the Front Door By Gluing Crack in The Doorway's Frame:

They fixed the crack in the frame for the front door by gluing it.

Mended The Leaky Mainline:

The main line to the water supply BEFORE the couple mended it.

After mending the pipeline using plumber's tape from L & M Lumber.

Replaced Scary Window On Front Of Rear Building:

See page 6 to see what this looked like when first discovered.

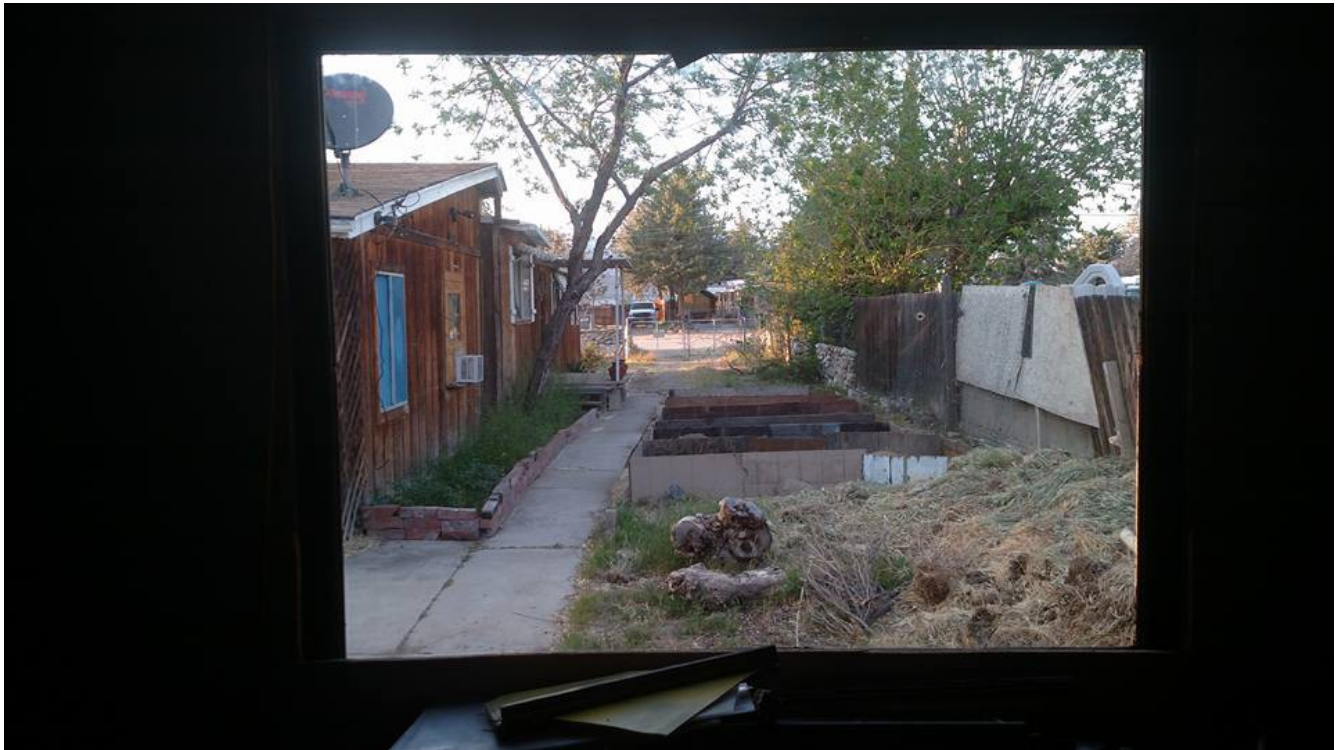

Cut plexiglass from L & M Lumber to replace window.

Cutting out the window with a Swiss Army knife.

EVENT #6: Many months of labor performing improvements

Looking out newly-replaced window.

Got window replaced; handing planters gifted from Renee & Adam Forker. Glass table in foreground from neighbor Mark.

EVENT #6: Many months of labor performing improvements

Progress As Things Continued Moving Forward:

"The Regrowth Room"; the new refrigerator was given to the couple by local friends who support the cause, Jennifer & Ray Colley; the fridge is still at the house.

The front room as we left it; the bed was a gift from our neighbors Ginger & Angela.

EVENT #6: Many months of labor performing improvements

An outdoor shower; everything in this photo including rollerblades was forced to being left at the house.

The shelf in the background was given from neighborhood friend Nicole Tenario.

The rocks from the property were organized behind the rear building along the fence.

Collected more wood scraps from neighborhood friends.

Many Items Were Given To Help The Cause &/or For Work
Trade By Community Members;
*these are all still on the property.

Couple was given this bench from neighbors & friends Adam & Renee Forker when they moved out from two houses down- they used it as an outdoor dish station.

Couple was given these drip hoses after helping neighbor Mark in cleaning a property.

EVENT #6: Many months of labor performing improvements

Couple was given these entertainment centers from neighbor Mark after doing work on a property down the street-- shelves, & rug.

Couple was given this solar panel that is still on the property from

Neighbor Mark gifted the couple the bed & headboard, & the wooden night stands in this photo following work they performed.

EVENT #6: Many months of labor performing improvements

Fixed The “Gaping Hole” On The Front Of The Rear Building:

The "hole" in the front of the rear building BEFORE.

Friend Daniel Wulff, a skilled builder, helped to fix the hole.

AFTER.

EVENT #6: Many months of labor performing improvements

The main room of the rear building. We purchased the blankets from the thrift store as creative decorative "wallpaper".

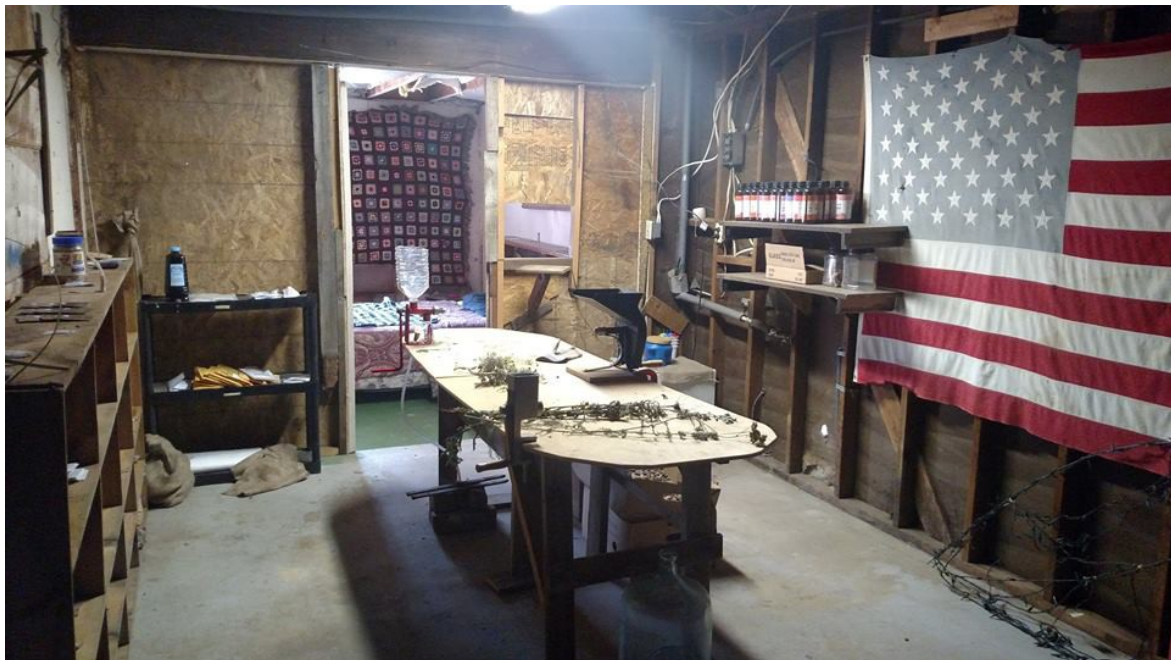

This is the door which once read "STAY OUT" in red paint (Page 14)-- now there's a hanging bar there & shelves added, entertainment center, cleaned up & cared for & loved.

EVENT #6: Many months of labor performing improvements

This was being built into a recording studio, & was further along this this at the time of the couples' removal. Ms. Wilson has written around 40 original songs & this would have been her first time being able to record albums.

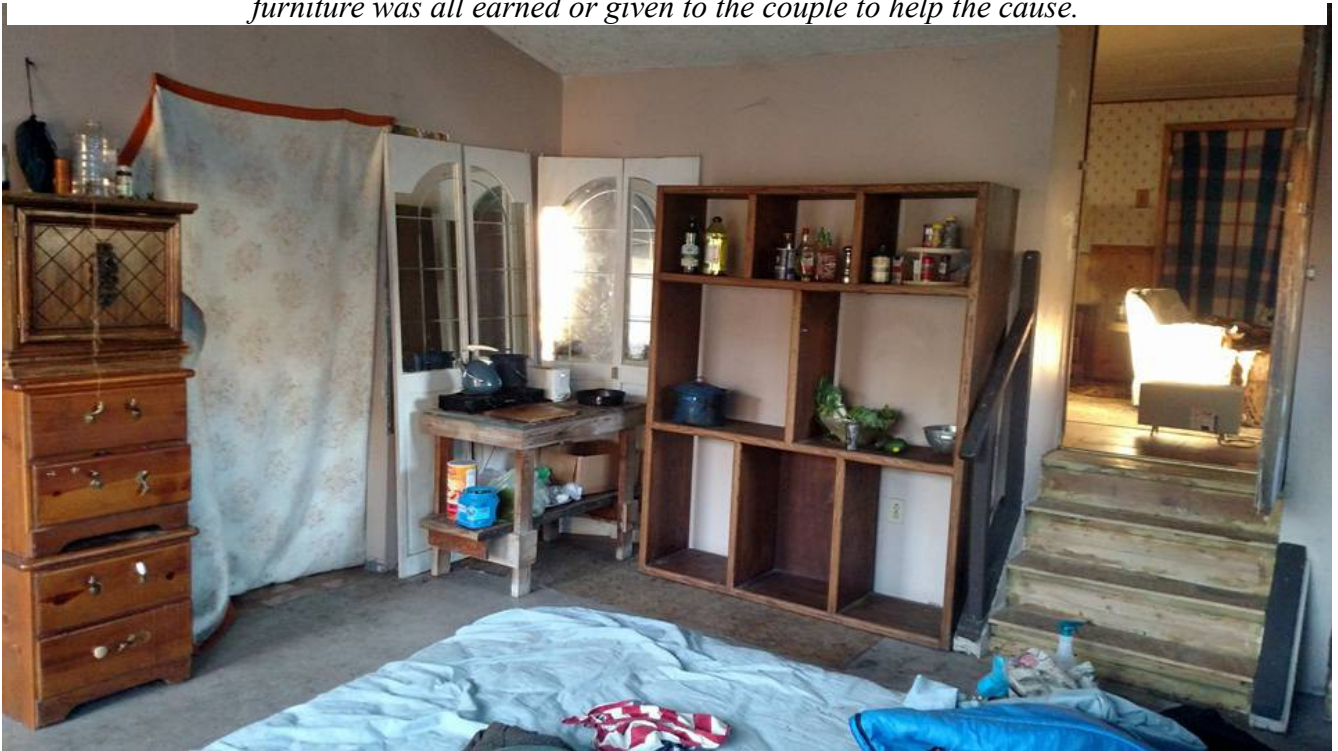

The processing room as it was left- acorn de-sheller & grain mill- bench, shelving- everything left on property.

EVENT #6: Many months of labor performing improvements

Main Bedroom As Left:

Their main bedroom-- the window with the air conditioner is the one that had the plastic, & the furniture was all earned or given to the couple to help the cause.

Their home they were turning into a home base to help the community-- as they were forced to leave it.

The Office/Living Room Before The Couple Was Forced Onto The Street & To Leave Everything Behind:

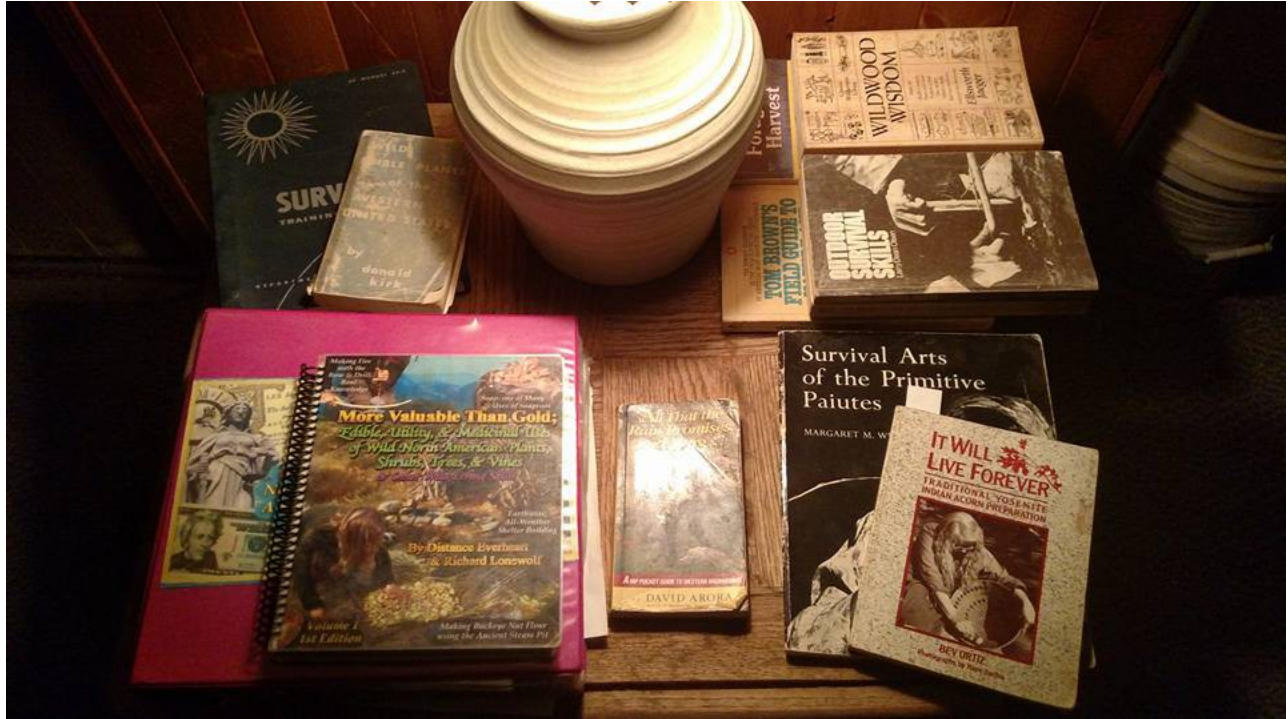

One of the last photos we have of the office space before we were removed. We worked for all the furniture in here.

One of the last photos of the living room as we left it. We worked for everything in here. The television & entertainment center gifts from Adam & Renee Forker, & are still on the property.

EVENT #6: Many months of labor performing improvements

These Items Were Also Made To Be Left on The Property:

Our collection of ethnobotany & survival books, lamp, & small coffee table are still in the house.

This print was a gift following work the couple performed for their neighbor Mark.

EVENT #6: Many months of labor performing improvements

Another print the couple was gifted from Mark following work performed.

This one is an original painting. Mark had inherited many of these items from a friend who had recently passed, & he was a neighborhood friend also looking forward to the cooperative & community garden.

EVENT #6: Many months of labor performing improvements

Kombucha & Jar:

The couple grew the "high in vitamin B12" kombucha tea at the house. As vegans, this is a good b-12 source for them.

This kombucha "scooby" (symbiotic 'colony' of bacteria & yeast) feeds off the sugar or honey, leaving behind a sophisticated ancient elixir.

This paper cutter & other printing supplies were left in the house.

EVENT #6: Many months of labor performing improvements

This juicer is still at the house, purchased by Mr. Byrd for Wild Willpower.

The printers are still at the house, purchased by Mr. Byrd for Wild Willpower.

These 3 printers are still at the house.

This CD of their friend Angelika is still at the house.
